

1 comment, lost in transition somewhere were the words "on 2 any of these laws" -- that is, "these laws" in the 3 immediately preceding sentence, "pertaining to popularly
4 elected representative regional governments". If one 5 says "any of these", I believe it takes care of the 6 problem.

7 As I say, these were lost in transition.

8 THE PRESIDENT: I am lost myself right now,
9 Delegate Penniman.

10 Where are the words that you speak of?

11 DELEGATE PENNIMAN: They were in the draft just 12 before this one was printed, and somewhere in our proofing
13 system we lost them.

14 THE PRESIDENT: To answer Delegate Willoner's
15 question, and I am not sure I understood Delegate Moser, 16 his direct question is that the use of the word "pertaining"
17 in line 39, instead of the words "establishing, affecting 18 the powers of, or dissolving: would appear to be a change
19 in substance because a law pertaining to a representative
20 regional government might be a law other than one 21 establishing, affecting the powers of, or dissolving, and
